

Dr. Sherry Lee-

Sherry Lee exhibits spiritual vitality seasoned with experience and discernment. Her recent innovative work in spiritual formation and practical ministry training for pastors and church leaders has distinguished her as a contemporary discipler, teacher, and mentor. Sherry's multifaceted experience in pastoral ministry, education, women's ministry, and spiritual formation has prepared her to speak with clarity to today's ministry leaders. Her passionate messages call women and men alike to new levels of spiritual growth and ministry effectiveness.

Sherry served at Southeastern University as assistant professor of practical theology and director of spiritual formation. She has served as an international director of women's ministry, a pastoral staff member for approximately 15 years, a pastor's wife for 28 years, a public school teacher, a Christian school founder and administrator, an assistant professor, and a mother of two sons.

Since 2007, Sherry and her husband, Wayne, have led Church Life Resources, a church transformation and revitalization ministry.

Sherry holds a B.A. in English/Education, a M.A. in Counseling, and a Doctor of Ministry from the Assemblies of God Theological Seminary. She is experienced in leading church ministries, and she has ministered in national and state leadership meetings, ministers and wives retreats, conferences, and international events.
